

This could enable terrorists to communicate plans. There is no hard evidence that phone usage doesn't interfere with navigation equipment. Also f/a's would have to police passengers' loud conversations & complaints from fellow passengers. The cabin can be a tense atmosphere already...we don't need cell phone usage onboard.